HUMAN RIGHTS POLICY

1. INTRODUCTION

Dornan is firmly committed to respecting and promoting internationally recognised human rights. This commitment reflects the ethical principles and corporate culture that guide our operations and strategic objectives.

Dornan recognises the importance of proactively identifying, preventing, mitigating, and, where necessary, remediating actual or potential negative human rights impacts associated with its operations, products, services, and those of its Business Partners. To support this commitment, Dornan has implemented a formal due diligence process aligned with internationally recognised best practices.

Our approach is guided by key international and regional human rights instruments, including but not limited to:

- The United Nations International Bill of Human Rights;
- The UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights;
- The OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises;
- The International Labour Organization's Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work;
- The European Convention on Human Rights;
- The Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union;
- The Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities.
- EU Working Time Directive (2003/88/EC).

Dornan is committed to avoiding any contribution to human rights violations and to addressing any such impacts should they occur. This commitment is reinforced by our internal policies and standards, including our Employee Code of Conduct, Code of Conduct for Business Partners, and Compliance Policy.
